Background

Organizational and project value: As the number of campus activities increases, the need for students to access and participate in activities becomes more urgent. We are not only seeing an increase in the variety and number of activities on campus, but also considering that the need for students and staff to obtain information about some activities is becoming more and more urgent. But the dissemination of information about the current campaign is fragmented and inefficient, leading to poor participation and wasted resources. Therefore, the Campus Event Calendar project came into being. By providing a centralized information platform, we want to promote the interaction between students and campus organizations, support the enrichment of campus culture and the expansion of students' social network, which is consistent with our mission of improving students' campus experience.
